

Mr. Asahiko Mihara
Special Advisor, JICA

Asahiko is a former Japanese politician of the Liberal Democratic Party (LDP), who served as a member of the House of Representatives in the Diet (national legislature). He attended Hitotsubashi University and Dag Hammarskjöld College in the United States, and received a master's degree from Carleton University in Canada.

He was elected to the House of Representatives for the first time in 1986. He is also one of the persons who founded ABE Initiative program. Currently he is engaged in JICA as Special Advisor and he has visited several African countries.