

Mr. Tchomian Maurice Adjé is a seasoned public servant with extensive experience in national cohesion, reconciliation, and public communication. He currently serves as Technical Advisor for National Cohesion at the Ministry of National Cohesion, Solidarity, and the Fight Against Poverty, and has previously held the same role at the Ministry of Reconciliation and National Cohesion. His responsibilities have included representing the ministry in high-level bilateral and multilateral meetings, leading strategic workshops, and contributing to national programs on justice, security, and human rights. He has also served as a university lecturer in written and oral communication, a policy analyst at the Presidency, and a communications officer at the Ministry of Commerce. Mr. Adjé holds a CAPES in Modern Literature from the École Normale Supérieure in Abidjan, a bachelor's degree in Modern Literature from the University of Abidjan Cocody, and is a Knight of the National Order.